WELCOME RUMORS AS TO EASTERN RACING RECEIVED AT MONCRIEF PARK.

Fort Worth Only Favorite to Score On a Card Devoted Chiefly to Non-Winners—Via Octavia Takes Measure of Governor Gray.

Jacksonville, Fla., February 17.—Friday is usually an off day at Moncrief Park and it has been the rule with the management this winter to provide races on this day for horses that have not won during the meeting. The conditions of a majority of today's races called for non-winners since November 23, and while fields that lacked class were brought together, still they were evenly matched and the result was well-fought contests and close finishes. In five of the six races the winners were first home by the shortest of margins.

Fort Worth was the only winning favorite, but two of the other winners, Via Octavia and Miss Marjorie, were well-backed second choices. Miss Marjorie was the only winner that had more than a neck to spare at the finish. The feature race was the fourth, an allowance affair, for three-year-olds at three-quarters of a mile, and it went to Via Octavia, which beat the odds-on favorite, Governor Gray, a neck. The winner was well ridden by jockey McCahey.

Only one of the winners was boosted. After Fort Worth beat Corinth a head in the second race, Louis Tauber bid him up $200 over his entered price, but Sam Louis protected the colt and bought him in at $705.

Fred W. Gerhardt, secretary of the Jamestown Jockey Club, announced that Mars Cassidy had been engaged to do the starting at the Norfolk meeting this spring.

Jockey A. Burton arrived from Tampa this morning and will remain for the rest of the meeting.

Judge Monck of Hamilton, Canada, was an arrival today. He is on his way to Palm Beach and stepped off to witness an afternoon's sport at Moncrief.

Orbicular broke down in his last start and will be retired to the stud at his owner's farm in Texas.

James Carruthers, accompanied by his son George, was a visitor at Moncrief this afternoon. He is on his way to southern Florida on a fishing trip.

Jockey J. Reid wrote from Juarez that he would leave Juarez for Jacksonville next week.

Jockey Goose was at the track this afternoon for the first time since his accident of last week, when he suffered a broken collarbone as a result of his fall from Silas Group.

A telegram to Thomas C. McDowell from a horseman in New York to the effect that the Hart-Agnew law would probably be declared unconstitutional, was received with much joy by the horsemen racing here.

In the event of racing being resumed on the New York tracks a number of owners who contemplated going to Canada or Kentucky, will ship to the metropolitan tracks.

Frank J. Nolan, owner of the Beverwyck Stable, went to St. Augustine this afternoon, but will return tomorrow to see his big horse, Sir John Johnson, start in his first stake engagement at Moncrief.

Mr. Nolan added greatly to the comfort of the horsemen by telling them that the New York racing situation had taken on a brighter aspect and predicting that the racing would come back just as good as it has ever been in the history of the turf in this country.

RACING GOSSIP FROM THE COAST.

San Francisco, Cal., February 17.—G. M. Gray denies that Eudymion II. is aringer and says that he told E. Moyné a story to that effect in the hope that he would return the horse to him after claiming the animal. Mr. Gray has papers to verify the pedigree of Eudymion II.

J. O. Keene left tonight for Kentucky to confer with J. N. Camden regarding the disposition of his stable here.

Henderson & Hogan plan to send sixteen horses to the Santa Anita track tomorrow. The horses will be rested for a time and about May 1 they will be shipped to Louisville.

Early Wright will also take his stable to Los Angeles. He will turn out a string of eighteen at the southern track and later ship six to Louisville. Arasee will be his main reliance for the spring and summer campaign. The son of Blues, which made such a brilliant reputation this season, will be entered liberally in eastern stake events.

T. W. Flynn, who retained five of the horses he brought west, will ship to Louisville, according to present plans. Trainer Jones will start east about April 1. In the lot are Lotta Creed, Starry Night, Rubia Granda, Ruissens and Home Run. Charles J. Quinn will send a stable of six east in charge of Morris Bernard.

Trainer W. S. Heath will take the horses of El Palomar Stable, owned by Charles W. Clark, to the San Mateo farms of the young millionaire, where they will be turned out.

AMERICAN ARMY IN NEED OF THOROUGHBRED BLOOD

August Belmont, in Thoughtful Address at Sportsmen's Dinner, Points Out Remedy for Embarrassing Situation That Has Developed

August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club and of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association, made many telling points in the address which he delivered at the sportsmen's dinner at New York Wednesday night. Mr. Belmont set forth more clearly than the subject has ever before been presented the deplorable lack of material in this country for the replenishment of army mounts and the embarrassing situation in which the United States would be placed in the event of an extraordinary demand for horses for war purposes. He pointed out the desirability of encouraging the breeding of the thoroughbred horse from an economic standpoint, aside from all other considerations, and his offer to present stallions valued at $100,000 or more to the War Department as the nucleus of a national breeding bureau was received with surprise and pleasure. Mr. Belmont's address in full is reproduced for the benefit of Daily Racing Form readers and is as follows:

Gentlemen and Fellow Sportsmen:

"I feel great pride and satisfaction in rising to address you, as I contemplate the character and size of this gathering. You have certainly responded eagerly to the call issued by Harry W. Smith, as good a sportsman as the best of us, and with the energy of a dozen of us.

"His purpose in organizing this dinner, after conferring with representative sportsmen, is the beginning of an annual banquet for all who are interested in sports, of which the horse is either the vehicle or motive. A misconception, however, crept into the press regarding our object, and may possibly have lodged in the public mind. That there may be no misunderstanding, let me, at the outset, state that our gathering has not the remotest connection with any movement looking to legal relief for horse racing, or appeals to our lawmakers for enabling legislation.

"Convinced as we are that our cause is a common one, we are gathered here tonight, as I interpret it, to promote, by means of friendly intercourse, every healthy, clean and invigorating sport where the horse plays a part.

"Show me a real lover of a horse who will not pass that love on when the opportunity presents itself to all other dumb animals. His is a good school in which to mold a tender heart, a firm but indulgent will, a steady nerve and character that knows and practices fair giving and fair taking, and—last but not least—a courage that will serve loyally friend or country.

"That is rather a fine character I am giving to the horsemen, and you might think there was no fault to find with him or advice to give him. There is, however, some of both for him. Each one has been prone to look upon his own special form of pleasure as apart from and not related to those of other horse-lovers, and today, when machinery and the harnessed forces of nature, added to narrow prejudices, are pressing him hard in many directions, he is unprepared with thoroughly organized influence to defend himself. Each branch is left to bear its own burden, and I am trusting in the hope tonight that the thought may spread out beyond us that it is a matter of public interest, and not of private vanity only, to protect the horse and his various callings more intelligently and scientifically than is now being done.

"The thoroughbred is the essential oil, so to speak, of horsemanship. His fundamental qualities are three in number: endurance, early maturity and courage. Every useful quality of any breed in the last analysis rests upon one of these three cardinal features. Perfect health, correct formation and, hence, beauty, are indispensable to endurance. Early maturity is impossible without a vigorous constitution and steady nerves. Courage follows as the sum total of his development.

"A thoroughbred cross improves every kind of horse. In fact, a touch of these fundamental qualities benefits every known breed, and to have the essential qualities I have pointed out, on top, just as our government now nurtures the many invaluable forms of fundamental ingredients needed for our vast agricultural interests, is our duty as a nation. Every other nation of the first class recognizes this duty and encourages the development of the thoroughbred. Continental governments are vying with the most ardent turfmen in buying stallions for public studs.

"The best and easiest example is the trotter. Forty years ago he was not a mature horse before reaching five or six years of age. With intelligent selection in breeding, accompanied by the frequent infusion of thoroughbred blood, he is today a trotter able to compete in races at two years old; at three he is a thoroughly grown horse, and at four quite mature and capable of standard performances. For this one quality alone the thoroughbred is of economic value.

"The famous Kentucky saddler, the charger, the hunter, the polo pony, are indebted to the thoroughbred for the best that is in them. Cinderella, one of the crack ponies our polo team played in last year, was the International Cup last year, is by the English classic stake winner, Rosiernean.

"Many of you within my hearing tonight who are with painstaking eagerness searching through the bunches the horse agents are bringing north, for the very best ponies money can buy, realize how vastly the Texas pony has improved in recent years. It is always the thoroughbred crossed on their famous quarter horse that is the crack of the bunch.

"And you of the hunting field and riders at our thirty or forty annual hunt and steeplechase meetings, what are you always looking for in the horse you buy, if it is not the marks and the characteristics of the thoroughbred?

"The thoroughbred enthusiast wants no other horse; he knows he can use him for anything if he be patient with him and treat him as a gentleman, for he is no placid slave, but a truly grand co-worker.

"The plain horse enthusiast, too, will point with pride to the fact if the royal blood does or only seems to run in his favorite's veins, and claim all the qualities that it produces and many more. If the listener is the right sort.

"My associates and myself in racing and breeding are, so to speak, the analytical chemists for you all. We are producing this extract of perfect horsemanship, and it is perhaps of interest to you to know and fully appreciate the tools we have to have.

"First we have to have the foundation stock and replenish it from time to time. Our forefathers of Colonial days got it from the same source to which we now have to go for it—to England, the wise and resourceful producer of the thoroughbred who secured her stock from the cradle of the horse, Arabia, but she no longer replenishes with the Arab. Her developed Arab of today is so vastly superior in size, conformation and stamina to the original that to dip back into the blood of the Arabian horse has proved a failure.

Second, and the most important tool we need is the eliminating test—the race courses. It is through these we ultimately select our breeding stock. You cannot produce early maturity without the eliminating test of the two-year-olds and three-year-old stake race. It is there and only there that you find out by the weights the horse carries and the distances he runs, if he is sufficiently developed and mature.

"The great classic races of England, the Derby and Oaks, for three-year-old colts and fillies, respectively, are run on the earliest possible dates in the spring for which three-year-old horse or more can be prepared to carry the prescribed weights and run the prescribed distances, which, after years of study and intelligent practice are deemed to be the maximum a fully developed horse should be tested by. He had to solve and fully grown or he could not shoulder the weight. He had to be sound or he could not stand the preparation.

"The show ring is useless as a method of selection and will ultimately go far astray with its theoretical requirements as to a conformation based upon what is deemed the best for something the horse used to do. With all honor and respect due the bench show, we all know what havoc it has played with breeds of sporting dogs that have ceased to be used for the original purpose they had been developed for by the sportsman.

"And so in a lesser degree, yet always important, the entire system of stake and cup races on the turf is framed to prove and test out the three great qualities I have held up to you as cardinal and valuable.

"The race course is a vast and expensive piece of machinery. Its value from the standpoint of the breeder is incalculable. As a sport and as a crucible it is highly interesting and instructive and absorbing as a study. And what I have said of the thoroughbred is applicable in every particular to the trotter.

"The moralist and his cant, the misguided and misinformed member of the community who, in his ignorance, harps upon the false theory that the race course is but an institution for gambling, is an enemy to the interests of our farmers, our ranchmen, our military establishments and all citizens who use and breed the horse for pleasure. I deny with all the vehemence I can command that the race course is but a gambling institution. Our turfmen and breeders are not gamblers, and many of them do not bet at all.

"The great nations of Europe and their governments foster the racing and breeding of thoroughbreds for the value they know they possess. That racing furnishes a recreation for the public is subordinate. There are attendant evils and sportsmen and lovers of the horse should be encouraged in their efforts to correct and eliminate them. Destroying racing as a public institution is not helping the community. Upholding it and doing it justice by passing intelligent criticism upon racing's faults is right, and we should frown upon the bigot whose gloomy pessimism would turn God's flowers of the fields into a monotonous gray.

"Since 1905 the registration of thoroughbreds in the Stud Book has shown a decline from 4,000 foals a year to 2,300 in 1910, and the prospect is that less than 2,000 will be registered this year. Stallions, broodmares and young thoroughbreds have been exported in hundreds and hundreds to England, Germany, Hungary, France, Australia and Argentina, never to return.

"The army is beginning to complain that it cannot readily find horses required for the cavalry. Think of it—in this vast country with its magnificent ranching and breeding farms. Five hundred horses each year for remounts are difficult to buy and cost more than our army officers think they should.

"The average horses have not breeding enough—lack the quality and endurance—and army men are now turning to thoroughbred horse breeders for help. What would happen if, in case of war, notwithstanding growing international desire for peace—the cavalry had to be quadrupled, and instead of a good cavalry horse lasting ten years, as they do in time of peace, the remounts of the cavalry were lasting but sixty days—which on standard military authority I am told is the average? Where would they come from? Importing 20,000 or 40,000 horses in ships would be a spectacle to be proud of, if by the grace of the enemy we might be permitted to witness it.

"We, in racing and breeding, have a common interest with you and you with us. It is upon you polo players, huntsmen and amateur riders as well as racing men, that the future of the thoroughbred horse in this country depends. It is for us all to give army men who are struggling with this problem a helping hand. The War Department is doing much for them, and in Virginia and at Fort Riley is fostering the thoroughbred by breeding, but unfortunately in a very limited way.

"The War Department is also encouraging officers to ride in amateur races and steeplechases and in playing polo at the different army posts.

"I told Gen. Fred D. Grant at the United Hunts meeting on Long Island last November that I would present the army with six good stallions, and I am going to offer this year and next to whoever the Secretary of War indicates to me to be the proper recipient Henry of Navarre, Octagon, two Rock Sand colts and two from other sires. Added to this I shall offer eight free services to my stallions in Lexington, Ky., to such mares belonging to the army as the Chief of Staff may see fit to issue a written order for. One of these services will be my stallion Rock Sand. I hope the army will be able to obtain more good thoroughbred stallions and place them throughout the west, as our Jockey Club's breeding bureau has distributed them in this state, and by securing first call on the mares bred to their stallions they will be able to inaugurate a practical way of securing the type of horse so much needed, and which the army has so much difficulty in securing.

"The Boer war was the cause of a tremendous depletion in our stock of horses suitable for cavalry and artillery. Hundreds and thousands of horses were exported to South Africa. Even at that time the horses as a class were not what they should have been. An intelligent fostering and encouragement of the right type, and a distribution, with the assistance of the government, of thoroughbred blood through the western ranches, would have meant many more millions of dollars of income to the country for what we should have had. Now that even those horses are gone there is no substantial encouragement given to the breeder to supply the void created.

"The unthinking will say that horsemanship commands a higher price today than it ever did. It

JUAREZ TRACK DRENCHED

SHOWERS FALL ALL DAY AND HEAVY DOWN-POUR PRECEDES THIRD RACE.

First and Second Races Won by Brothers—Large Delegation Reaches Mexican Track from Oakland—Stewards After Rough Riders.

El Paso, Tex., February 17.—Frequent showers fell today and there was a heavy downpour of rain just before the running of the third race which made the track quite sticky. Form remained good, however, three favorites winning. The attendance suffered on account of the inclement weather, one of the smallest crowds of the meeting turning out.

The first and second races were notable for the winning of the two brothers, Zapotec and Fritz Emmett, both of which were bred by the Texas breeder, S. Lazarus, and were recently disposed of by that gentleman.

H. W. Hoag arrived today from Oakland with the horses of E. G. Soule, the Riverview Stable and two belonging to William Cahill.

Quite a delegation of turfmen arrived on the morning train from the California track, including bookmakers Mark Quirk, Charles Shafer and others.

E. Winters, a prominent Texan, took a hand in the bidding up today, boosting Fritz Emmett and Union Jack. After the runup of Fritz Emmett Mr. Winters, finding the horse belonged to L. H. Ezell, promptly returned him to his former owner, claiming that he was under the impression that the horse was still owned by S. Lazarus, with whom he had an old score to settle.

The further entry of the horse Helen Carroll has been refused by the board of stewards on account of fractiousness at the barrier.

Jockey McCullough was fined $50 by the stewards for rough riding in races. The number of fines recently imposed on riders indicates that the stewards are keenly alive to the rough riding practiced lately and are determined to stop it. If fines are not sufficient more vigorous measures will be taken.

TAMPA ATTENDANCE BIGGEST YET.

Tampa, Fla., February 17.—Ladies' day attracted the banner attendance of the season, the plant being crowded to its capacity. The usual feature of a race for amateur riders was of most interest to the spectators. It was won by Sir Compton, ridden by Mr. H. McFall, prominent locally. Brougham, with Mr. Thomas, took second place and First Premium, on which Mr. Moody had the mount, took third. The boy's friend, which scored in Monday's Hunt Club purse, was awarded to the winning rider and his racing career is terminated except in the final race, in which the winning amateur riders will meet on their own mounts.

The judges did not like the showing of Lighthouse and began an investigation of his running. Davenport was not permitted to take the mount on Chanate, the judges substituting Troxler, and this was a factor in her success.

Jockeys Pauley and Griffin were each suspended for two days by the starter and A. Martin and M. Simmons for three days.

Tom Hatfield, employer of jockey Winkfield, has received several tempting offers from other owners for the transfer of the contract.

In the opening dash there was a mixup soon after the start which caused the unseating of jockey Paul. The boy's foot caught in the stirrup and he was in grave danger of being dragged to death when jockey Dreyer, on Fenrir, ranged his horse alongside and extricated Paul from his perilous position.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

P. F. W. Cincinnati, O. Tremont was never beaten, starting in thirteen races and winning them all.

J. J. C. Cleveland, O. Sceptre is a bay mare by Persimmon—Ornament and was foaled in 1899. She was one of the best mares of English racing history and was the property of R. S. Slevier when she won the Epsom Oaks.

P. M. and M. S. Cincinnati, O. The parlay lost. It was a bet that four horses would win. One was beaten and that settled the matter. The limit was another affair that had no bearing on the bet except in the way of prescribing how much could be won in the event of all four horses winning.

E. R. O. Chicago. There was no such thing as an "average price" in the race won by Mique O'Brien November 4, 1910. That is a bookmaking term, whereas the betting on the Mique O'Brien race was in the mutuels, in which the only price is that at which the horse wins. In that case it was $11.35 to $1.

G. W. B. J. Helena, Ark. The winner of the Crescent City Derby at New Orleans in 1904 was the colt Ostrich, by Ornament—Plumage. So far as the records go, he ran as the property of G. L. Richards. Its winner in 1907 was Montgomery, by Pessara—Montgomery Cooper, trained by Montgomery of Chinn & Forsythe. The same year the City Park Derby was won by C. R. Ellison's filly, Yankee Girl, by Sir Dixon—Breakwater.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

Theo. Coles will school Mollie S. through the field for C. C. Smithson.

The recent successes of E. R. Bradley's Beach Sand at Juarez has brought him into the limelight as a likely contender for Kentucky Derby honors. He is a good looking son of the English Derby winner, Rock Sand, and he displays determined action in racing.

Rivalry between jockeys Molesworth and T. Rice at Juarez is keen. These boys are having a nip and tuck contest for the saddle honors of the meeting. Up to yesterday each had ridden forty-six winners during the progress of the Juarez meeting. When the two took up in a race, as they frequently do, each makes a special effort to outvie the other, according to reports from the Mexican course.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR AMATEUR SPORT.

New York, February 17.—United Hunts Racing Association officials believe the coming season will be the greatest in the history of amateur racing. Announcement of approved dates for the year shows that meetings will be held at points where races have never before been held. Military races will be a strong feature of the year. They are being arranged for at various points and will be on the flat and over the steeplechase courses. The war department is aiding in every way the progress of these races. At Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., they are building a steeplechase course two miles in one circuit for the purpose of developing the horses now quartered there. At other posts, especially at Fort Riley, Kas., and at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., horses are being schooled as jumpers under the advice of the experts on horses connected with the army.

AMERICAN ARMY IN NEED OF THOROUGH-BRED BLOOD.

Is true the growth of the country and the extension of our agricultural interests keeps the dry horse more scattered and more at home. The surplus for market has decreased, but the horse that the army seeks and that some day may and should be exported for remounts is not well understood.

"Referring again to the army, we should not only have enough of correctly bred horses for remounts to supply our own needs, but encourage a large export trade for ready buyers existing in Europe. With all their efforts the continental armies are still not fully supplied, and in case of war must draw from other countries, such as Australia and Argentina, and the United States ought to be included. If we breed intelligently we would, in case of need, be able to keep the surplus stock for our own use.

"In all that I have said I am neither sounding the voice of the alarmist or pessimist. It took years to build and develop what we had and that was none too soon. The enterprise would involve an expenditure of about $100,000 a year by the government during the first five years.

Thomas W. Lawson announces that he will add his $50,000 trotting stallion, Dare Devil (2:09), to the government's breeding bureau if it materializes. Mr. Lawson's famous Thunder Cloud was bought by the war department several years ago and is now at a western army post.
